almost as great a quantity to France.

The schooner Northland arrived at Portland Monday, exciting the following item in the shipping department of the Portland Express: The trip ended today is the first made to Portland by the large four-sticker for at least two years. When the Northland was built a few years ago she was equipped with a heavy gasoline engine motor of 500 horse power, but after a thorough trying out it was found that the gas engine was not practical, so the Northland has been making all her trips under sail for some time. The Northland is an excellent vessel and the fact that her topmasts are very short has always attracted attention from seafaring men.
It is said that the topmasts of the schooner were made very short so she could pass under the Brooklyn bridge.

"One of the many pitiful phases of blindness which we encounter," says a celebrated oculist, "is that of the habitual tobacco smoker who has lost his eyesight. After every meal, the craving of tobacco is very great; but the blind man cannot enjoy smoking.
It is a peculiar fact that a smoker must see the smoke of his pipe or cigar before he can taste it properly. Let any man close his eyes tight when he is smoking and he immediately loses the taste of the tobacco. Many men smoke in the dark and enjoy their smoke; but in the dark the glowing spark of the cigar or pipe illuminates the smoke.
The blind man never sees the smoke,
and cannot enjoy the tobacco taste, no matter how good his cigar, or how deep his pipe or how strong the craving may be. It is really pitiful to hear them
ask: 'Isn't there any possible way that I can taste tobacco smoke, doctor?'"

OUR EXHIBIT OF SHELLFISH

Commissioner Donohue Will Show
Baltimore Convention What Maine
Can Do—Oyster and Clam Culture.

James Donohue, commissioner of sea and shore fisheries leaves next Monday for Baltimore, where he will attend
the national shellfish convention.
Maine is to have an interesting exhibit
there, representing six different types of shellfish—lobsters, clams, scallops, oysters, mussels and crabs. In this connection it is interesting to note that Maine furnishes more varieties of shellfish than any other state in the Union. Lobsters will be shown in five different stages, namely: seed lobsters,
legal sized lobsters (male and female), 9-inch lobsters (legal size in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut), yearlings and fry. The exhibit is furnished at the request of the executive committee of the national association.
Commissioner Donohue will also take along interesting souvenirs of Maine's greatest lobster industry in the form of claws, which have been fashioned into unique matchsafes. They were manufactured at Vinalhaven, and it is easy to see where they will be eagerly sought by the delegates.

Commissioner Donohue states that an effort to promote oyster culture in every county on the Maine coast will be made this year. At present there are some fairly prolific beds in Lincoln county, and a few in Cumberland, York and Hancock. The results have not been as satisfactory as they should be,
for the reason where the work has been done in a strictly scientific manner.

F. L. Homan of New Haven, representing the American Oyster Co.,
which has large beds in New Haven and Providence, visited Rockland last week, in the course of an investigating tour along the Maine coast, and had an interesting chat with Commissioner Donohue. "I prophesied some years ago that Maine was the coming oyster state," said Mr. Homan, "and I am more than ever convinced that I was right." Mr. Homan is coming back to Maine letter in the season, and in company with Mr. Donohue will make a thorough examination of the coast with a view to seeing where oysters can be planted to best advantage.

Clam culture will probably receive more attention this year than ever before in Maine's history, owing to laws passed by the last Legislature and the need of reinforcing the state's supply.

"For the information of those not familiar with the breeding of clams," says Commissioner Donohue, "I will state that the spawning season extends through the months of May,
June and July; at this season a great majority of the eggs are laid. The eggs of the clam, which are extremely minute, are thrown out from the siphon or snout of the female clam into the water, where they are fertilized
by sperm, which the male clam expels in a similar manner. The free swimming period usually ends the last of July. If eel grass and sea weed are carefully examined at this time, large numbers of these little clams will be found hanging to the stocks by slender threads. They attach themselves also to drift wood, spiles, stones, etc.
"Clams begin to burrow as soon as they find a favorable location. This may be the case after they cease swimming or when they have finally settled upon the ground or flats. Clams are beset from the very beginning by numerous enemies. The eggs and free swimming fry furnish food for many varieties of fish, but at all times have been concerning the physical condition and destructive enemies of the clam, the fact remains that the clams continued to hold their own in abundance along our shores until a comparatively recent date, but in recent years have not held their own, and the decrease is, without question, the direct result of unlimited and unreasonable digging. There is no evidence that the physical conditions or natural enemies have recently become more destructive, nor can more than a small part of the responsibility
be laid at the door of the manufacturers who allow detrimental waste products to pour into the bays and rivers.
The decrease is quite as well, where clams are left to themselves thrive
well, and would undoubtedly continue to so thrive if the practice, when digging, of picking up the very small clams was discontinued.

"In developing methods of clam culture, I have constantly kept in mind
two possibilities: viz, that of cultivating clams on the shores for public digging, and cultivation by and on grounds leased to private parties. Success in either case is assured. I believe the best results can be obtained by leasing a small portion, say one quarter of the flats in the different towns, to private individuals, they to have entire control of the portion of the flats
so leased; the balance of the flats to be left for the use of the public. It would unquestionably be a profitable business for a lessee of flats to engage in. The leased premises would also be of great benefit to the remaining flats left for the use of the public because it would be impossible for anyone to drift and propagate clams on a portion of the flats without necessarily greatly benefiting the adjacent or surrounding flats, as the spawn coming from the beds under cultivation would drift and be distributed around all the flats in the vicinity; therefore the public flats would be of more value to the free diggers, if one quarter, or even more, of the flats was leased for private cultivation. A carefully drawn uniform lease should be adopted and authorized which will protect the State,
towns and lessees.

"There are many things which must be taken into consideration, the size and condition of the flats, the kind of soil, the time of day, the time of tide, etc. The main point in planting is to get the largest possible proportion of the clams well installed in their burrows. Where the flats are quite hard, a furrower, drawn by horses, that will dig three or four furrows about one foot apart at a time, should be used;
then have the clams dropped into the furrows; when the tide comes in it will wash the dirt back into the furrows, covering the clams. Upon investigation, after planting of this kind last year, the day after planting, the clams were found to be right side up in proper condition, with the usual clam hole in the flats, all ready for business.

"Another method of planting is sowing clams on the surface, which has been tried with good success, especially in the case of small clams usually up to about one inch in length. This method has two distinct advantages. First, it is very rapid; second, when the clams have burrowed they are in their proper position and at the natural depth. Clams sown on the flood tide have an advantage of an immediate chance to burrow, whereas those sown on the bare ground rarely succeed in burrowing until the tide has risen to cover them. It is not advisable to plant clams in the late afternoon, because with the approach of darkness

the eels, crabs and other enemies come in shore. They can also be sown on the flood tide after the flats are covered with water."

CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR

Claude L. Allen, South Thomaston
Boy, Would Represent Fourth Middlesex District.

Claude L. Allen, city solicitor of Melrose, Mass., and son of J. H. Allen, formerly of South Thomaston, is a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination in the Fourth Middlesex District. His candidacy will have the best wishes of the Knox county friends he made while a resident of the neighboring town, and on the occasion of the visit of Hugh de Payens Commandery, K. T., on St. John's Day last year. The Everett, Mass. Republican gives the following sketch and endorsement of Mr. Allen:

"Mr. Allen was born in South Thomaston, Maine, 33 years ago; he moved to Boston where he received his early education in the public schools; has been a resident of Melrose 13 or 14 years; is a graduate of Boston University Law School; and has been engaged in the practice of law in Boston for the past 11 years, where he is associated with Senator George L. Barnes of Weymouth, under the firm name of Allen & Barnes.

"Mr. Allen is an ex-alderman of Melrose, and is now serving his sixth year
as city solicitor in which office he has been particularly successful for the city in all the courts of this Commonwealth and in the Supreme Court of the United States where he argued the famous tax case of Admiral Dyer against the City of Melrose, during this time
he had never lost a case for the city.

"He is a prominent member of many social and fraternal organizations.
Resides with his wife and two children
at 268 Grove street, Melrose.

"It is generally conceded that it is Melrose's turn to choose a senator for the District and Mr. Allen's candidacy meets with the approval of many leading Republicans and of the three cities,
Malden, Everett and Melrose."
The Melrose Free Press says: "City
Solicitor Claude L. Allen is a candidate.
Mr. Allen is well known as a progressive young Republican. He has been successful in his conduct of law cases for the city. His friends are very earnest in his support."

Simple Nature

He it not mine to steal the cultured flower
From any garden of the rich and great,
Nor seek with care, through many a weary hour,
Some novel form of wonder to create.
Enough for me the leafy woods to rove,
And gather simple cups of morning dew,
Or, in the fields and meadows that I love,
Find beauty in their bells of many hue.
Thus round my cottage floats a fragrant air,
And though the rustle plot be humbly laid,
Yet, like the lilacs gently growing there,
I have not told, but take what God has made.
My Land Ambition pass'd, and snail'd in scorn;
I pluck'd a rose, and, lo! it had no thorn.

CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT

Rockland, April 15, 1911.
Personally appeared Nell S. Perry, who on oath declares that she is president in the office of the Rockland Publishing Co., and that of the issue of The Courier-Gazette of April 11, 1911, there was printed a total of 4,000 copies.
Before me: J. W. CROCKER
Notary Public.

Fifty years ago Wednesday Fort Sumter was fired upon and that great conflict between the North and the South was begun. The conflict was a long and bloody one and life after life was sacrificed—needlessly, perhaps, but all in defence of a principle. As near as can be accounted for, the Civil War cost the lives of 349,944 men on the Union side, and on the Confederate side, as far as their records show, 133,821 men. This is an awful host to go down to death and destruction, and when a person's memory wanders over the past and in his mind's eye takes in the scenes on those Southern battlefields, he is quite likely to agree with General Sherman that "War is hell" (though it is now proved that he didn't say it.)

Half a century has rolled into eternity and thousands of the Boys in Blue who took part in the defence of their flag, have responded to their last reveille and taps have been sounded. In commemoration of that fiftieth anniversary, the Grand Army of the Republic will meet in National Encampment in Rochester, N. Y., from August 21 to 26. Arrangements are already being made by a big committee to make the affair the greatest in the history of the Grand Army. Every one of the wearers of the Blue will be especially honored. Rochester was one of the first cities to respond to Father Abraham's call for 75,000 troops.

The fifty years since the beginning of that rebellion and the inaugural of the immortal President, Abraham Lincoln, has seen a revolutionary change in this country. The struggle and strife and animosities of the past are over and forgotten. There is nothing but rejoicing now and men from the North, the South, the East and the West will gather in celebration this year. A large sum of money is to be expended in the entertainment of the guests from every quarter of the land. The State will appropriate at least $50,000, and the citizens of Rochester, to show their good will to the old soldiers, will also raise a large sum with which to provide entertainment and accommodation for the guests. Rockland and vicinity has usually been well represented at the National encampments and doubtless this notable occasion will be recognized by the veterans hereabout to a marked extent.

The public is receiving many demonstrations of insincerity of Democratic professions. The latest astounding revelation is in the matter of assistant attorney general. In the preceding Legislature, it will be recalled, Mr. Pattangall introduced a measure to abolish this office. It failed to receive a passage. But when the recent Legislature met, Mr. Pattangall, his boss and supreme master, had the office abolished with a rush—it was such a glowing bit of Democratic economy. This, said Mr. Pattangall, with a grandiloquent flourish to the grandstand, is the way we wipe out the unnecessary offices that wicked Republicans created. Thus we save the money of the People. Shortly afterward the Legislature elected Cyrus R. Tupper of Boothbay Harbor attorney general, who retained the office until after adjournment, when he resigned and Mr. Pattangall was appointed in his place. Yesterday the latter had Mr. Tupper appointed as his assistant, the office not being legally abolished until July 1, up to which time Tupper draws the salary and after which time undoubtedly he will continue to officiate as the attorney general's assistant under pay. Verily the New Democracy of Maine is buncombe from the ground up.

By the way, the fiftieth anniversary year of the outbreak of the Civil War is exactly the time when Rockland's soldier and sailor monument should come into existence. Let's not put it off to another year.

ROCKLAND'S NEW PASTOR

Rev. Pliny A. Allen, Jr., Who Comes to Massachusetts Charge.

Rev. Pliny A. Allen, Jr., of Tufts College, Mass., has accepted the call of the Universalist church, and will take up his work here May 1st.

The new recruit in Rockland's ministerial ranks lacks a few months of being 35 years of age. He was born in Charlestown, Mass., July 23, 1876, a son of Pliny A. Allen. His mother was Izah Warren Tenney, daughter of Rev. T. J. Tenney of Norway, Me.

Mr. Allen received his early education at the public schools of Mattapoisett, Mass., and fitted for college at Tabor academy, Marion, Mass. He graduated from Tufts Divinity school in 1901, and has since held pastorates in Marblehead, Orange and Medford, Mass.

His pastoral labors have been blessed with uniform success, and he comes to the Rockland pulpit with the prestige of being a strong preacher and a promoter of the social as well as spiritual welfare of his parish.

Mr. Allen was married in 1902 to Miss Pauline Louise Cweig. They have four children.

KNOX COUNTY APPOINTMENT

Because of an error in make-up the Legislative apportionment for Knox county did not appear correctly in this paper at the close of the session. House bill No. 745 affixes the matter as follows:

"The county of Knox shall choose six Representatives, apportioned as follows: Rockland, one; Camden, Hope and Washington, one; Rockport, Warren and North Haven, one; Union, Appleton and Thomaston, one; Cushing, Friendship, Vinalhaven, Matinecock and Crisheaven, one; St. George, South Thomaston, Mussel Ridge and Hurri-gate, one."

WILEY'S CORNER

Elmer Boggs and family, who have spent the winter here, have returned to their home in Waldoboro.

Mr. and Mrs. James Feyler of Thomaston called on Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Wheeler one day last week.

Winter still lags in the arms of spring.

Last Sunday gave us another north-east snow storm and the weather prophet says we are to have a cold month and that no early planting will be done until the first of May and in all probability we will have a short summer.

The clam boat America, Capt. Parsons, of Friendship, is buying up clams for the market.

Miss Alfreda Clark of Thomaston is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Edith Thomas.

Miss Elizabeth Covey, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Arthur Thomas, the past week, has returned to her home in Rockland.

School in district No. 1 commenced its spring term last Monday with Albert Barnes as teacher.

Charles Kalloch is confined to the house with a bad cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ewell have returned home after a few days' visit in Portland.

Mr. Davis of Treasure Point Cove has sold his horse to C. I. Burrows.

Miss Lida Hocking is teaching school in District No. 2.

Miss Mildred Newbert of South Thomaston spent the week-end with Miss Caroline Kinney.

Mrs. Caroline Gilchrist is on the sick list.

William Wilbur has gone on a trip to New York with Capt. Frank Hilt in Sch. Lena White.

Ernest Wiley has obtained work at Wild Cat point.

W. L. Robinson has purchased a horse of C. I. Burrows.

George McLellan was in Thomaston last Friday on business.

Walter Hastings of Thomaston spent last Sunday the guest of Miss Sarah Kinney.

The baseball season in Knox county is due to open Saturday, when Vinalhaven High and Thomaston High meet on the Thomaston diamond. Although this is merely an exhibition game it will offer a good line on what may be expected from two teams which are to figure in the Knox and Lincoln Inter-scholastic League, and it is probable that observers will be present from the other towns.

DEATH BY BURNING

Capt. Lyman Stanley of Rockland Receives Fatal Injury from Kerosene Explosion at Vinalhaven.

Lyman E. Stanley, captain of the lobster smack Pauline, was fatally burned at Vinalhaven Tuesday afternoon when undertaking to start the galley fire with kerosene. In the explosion that followed the bottom of the can was blown out and the blazing oil was scattered over Capt. Stanley.

His shrieks attracted the attention of several persons on the shore who shouted for him to jump overboard. He seemed too dazed to do this and instead he wrapped the job around his body. This was also burned before a power boat manned by Mr. Ames could reach him. Other boats also put out to the scene of the tragedy and the flames which had meantime crept from their burning victim to different parts of the lobster smack were quickly extinguished.

Suffering horribly, Capt. Stanley was taken to the office of Dr. Raymond. He was able to converse and left messages with a brother Odd Fellow for his family and mother. He died early Wednesday morning, and the remains were brought to this city on the afternoon boat.

Capt. Stanley was a son of Capt. and Mrs. David Stanley of Swan's Island. He has had employment with local wholesale fish concerns for quite a number of years, and at the time of his death was commanding one of A. C. McLoon & Co.'s lobster smacks. He was 28 years of age, and possessed many qualities which made him well liked and much esteemed by all who knew him. A great deal of sympathy is manifested for the surviving wife and child.

Funeral services will be held from the residence of the deceased 46 Union street, this Friday afternoon under the direction of Knox Lodge, I. O. O. F. Deceased was also a member of Rockland Encampment.

Manager Al. V. Rosenberg leaves today for New York, where the Rosenberg Theatre & Amusement Co. will take up the matter of a new theatre proposition in that city.

Mrs. D. W. Potter was in Rockland one day last week.

The local chapter of the W. C. T. U. have given the high school a fine picture of Miss Frances E. Willard.

Last Monday morning some of the ladies, accompanied by Mrs. E. M. Lambert, National Organizer, visited the school and formally presented the gift. Mrs. Pratt offered prayer after which Mrs. Daggett made the presentation speech. Mrs. Lambert spoke very instructively on the character of Miss Willard. F. H. Perry, superintendent of schools, accepted the favor with a few words of appreciation, then all joined in singing America. White Ribbons were presented by Mrs. A. E. Daggett, Mrs. D. W. FIRST AID IN FAINTING.

Lower the Head to Let the Blood Back to the Brain.

Fainting is a loss of consciousness due to the diminution of blood supply to the brain. It occurs most frequently in weak, sensitive women, but may occur also to men as well. It usually occurs in crowds or in crowded halls, theaters and churches, where the atmosphere is close and the air foul.

Fainting usually lasts only a few minutes, and the person recovers immediately when taken out into the fresh air, but there are cases in which it lasts much longer, sometimes for an hour or more. The first aid treatment of fainting is usually very simple. Take the person out into the fresh air and lay him flat on the back, with the head lower than the feet.

This can be done by grasping the feet and holding the body so that the head hangs down, or take an ordinary straight back chair, turn it over so that the back forms an angle with the floor and place the person on the back of the chair with the head hanging down. This position with the head hanging down favors the flow of the blood back to the brain.

All tight clothing about the neck and waist should be loosened. Smelling salts or aromatic spirits of ammonia applied to the nostrils and cold water sprinkled on the face, chest and hands help to restore consciousness.—National Magazine.

FOR BALD HEADS

Treatment That Costs Nothing if it Fails

We want you to try three large bottles of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic on our personal guarantee that the trial will not cost you a penny if it does not give you absolute satisfaction. That's proof of our faith in this remedy, and it should indisputably demonstrate that we know what we are talking about when we say that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will grow hair on bald heads, except where baldness has been of such long duration that the roots of the hair are entirely dead, the follicles closed and grown over, and the scalp is glazed.

Remember, we are basing our statements upon what has already been accomplished by the use of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, and we have the right to assume that what it has done for thousands of others it will do for you. In any event you cannot lose anything by giving it a trial on our liberal guarantee. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store, Fred H. Call, Main street, Rockland.

In cases of rheumatism relief from pain makes sleep and rest possible. This may be obtained by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. For sale by Norcross Drug Stores and W. H. Kirtledge, Druggists.

TAKES RISKS ON ANYTHING

Lloyds Issue Policies Against Even the Weather and Twins—Gambled on Bryan's Chances.

The announcement that a pearl necklace, diamonds and jewelry, valued at $130,000, stolen from a stateroom on the Hamburg-American liner Amerika, was insured by Lloyds of London, which will be out $100,000 in case the missing gems do not turn up, recalls the chances that this organization takes on all manner of insurance.

Lloyds is not an insurance company as the term is known here. It is an association of individuals who are prepared to accept practically any risk, the various members, or groups of them, taking the chances, each according to his own views and the association itself not in any way assuming responsibilities for the individual risks.

Originally the organization undertook only marine insurance. In the days of the Georges the owner of a vessel would go to Lloyds coffee house in Alchurch lane and his fellow merchants would sign their names under the policy and opposite the amount which each was prepared to pay in case of shipwreck. Hence the term "underwriters."

Gradually the underwriting custom began to be applied to risks other than marine and the speculative habit was developed. Today like the old underwriters, the various members are willing to consider "any old risk" and will accept almost any at a price.

The various forms of freak insurance that Lloyds have indulged in are kept its name in the public eye as much as anything. England, of course, has long been accustomed to it, but it was such insurance as policies against Black Hand outrages, taken out two years ago and the losses resulting from the possible election of William Jennings Bryan that drew the special attention of Americans to this practice of Lloyds, that one can be insured against anything from twins, down through rainy weather to a cold in the head.

One hundred years ago or so the predecessors of the present Lloyds gambled on the fate of Napoleon. The policy was for one month at three per cent. This would be an ordinary risk today, for policies on the lives of crowned monarchs are almost as common as policies upon delayed ships. Everybody remembers how in 1902 Lloyds took a big chance as to whether Edward VII would live long enough to be crowned king of Great Britain and Ireland and emperor of India. Many men in Britain carry insurance all the year round on the life of the king. Some Wall Street speculators, it is said, make it a practice to carry insurance on the life of the President because of the probable market upheaval that would follow the sudden death of the head of the nation.

Wars and the lives of crowned heads have always been the greatest source of Lloyds policies outside of its legitimate business of marine insurance. During the period of continued disturbance in Europe between 1775 and 1845 not a cargo went to sea that was not insured against capture and during the more recent Japanese-Russian contest the shipments of contraband to both parties were inevitably insured at Lloyds.

Policies on the safety of valuable animals are common, elephant insurance especially being in vogue. One of the largest animal policies was on the life of the great Jumbo when he was brought to New York on a steamship.

Horses, too, are often insured at Lloyds. Nearly every stallion of importance in the Kentucky breeding farms is insured, and until a few years ago many race horses in training were insured, but a succession of losses caused an advance of premiums to virtually a prohibitive figure. The final blow came when James R. Keene's Highball broke his leg in a race and had to be destroyed. He was insured for a very large amount.

Bank deposits are often insured, and the Prince of Wales' jubilee stamps were insured at Lloyds, a prominent firm of underwriters guaranteeing that the issue would be successful. It was an odder risk was the insurance of a glass bed packed in 20 cases and shipped to an eastern ruler. One case was damaged and the underwriter paid in part. Gatekeepers for cricket and football matches have also been insured, and a lot of money is made out of the vagaries of the weather. Lloyds bets large sums right along that it is not raining on a certain day. At the time of King Edward's coronation Lloyds insured stand owners, decorators and florists, and lost, it is estimated, at least a million dollars by the postponement of the ceremony. On the other hand the underwriters insured Queen Victoria's jubilee and her diamond jubilee, and as both took place according to schedule they made money on the outcome.

Padewski, on his concert tours, takes out a kind of different kind of insurance, accident and health, and a separate policy on his fingers. Kubelik, the violinist, also keeps his fingers insured, and Caruso and other grand opera stars carry insurance against colds and other maladies.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.
There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney trouble. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the blood vessels, causing catarrh of the bladder, head-ache or sediment in the urine, back-ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and better health in that organ is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. Swamp-Root corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

Big Mouthful.
"Yes," whispered the man who knows everybody, "the big chap over there at the third table is a great gormandizer's a mountain in the financial world, you know."

"H'm!" commented the quiet observer. "Instead of a mountain he looks to me like a great gorge."—Chicago News.

CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE

Made Safe by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life, distressed from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."

Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter. —MRS. CHAS. BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing woman's ills such as inflammation of the bowels, irregularities, periodic pains and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write for advice is free, and always helpful.

The great wall of China may soon be outdone by the great wall or rather walls of New York, for it is now proposed as a safeguard against fire, to build the metropolis the first walled city in the country since the days of the earliest settlements. This novel suggestion was put forward at a recent meeting of the Credit Men's Association at the Hotel Astor, and is now being seriously considered. It is not planned of course to wall in the whole city, but instead by the erection of transverse barriers in various localities to make impossible any general conflagration, since these barriers would check the further spread of any fire. Neither is it proposed exclusively to erect plain walls towering 200 feet into the air. Wherever it proves possible to construct a continuous line of absolutely fireproof buildings these structures will be used as a fire wall. Only where such a plan is impossible or to fill in the uncompleted gaps in such a link is it proposed to construct the mammoth walls. The inventor of the new idea says that the advertising space on these barriers could easily be sold at a price sufficiently large to wipe out at an early date the cost of their construction. The chief difficulty however, in this connection seems to be in the fact that present bill posting methods and facilities are in no way prepared to plaster a 200-foot high wall with works of more or less artistic value.

In Two Minutes

Easy and Quickest Way to Break Up a Cold.

If you want instant relief from cold in head or chest, or from acute catarrh, try this:

Into a bowl of boiling hot water pour a teaspoonful of HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-mei) hold your head over the bowl and cover head and bowl with towel. Then breathe the pleasant penetrating, antiseptic vapor deep into the lungs, over the sore, raw, tender membrane, and most gratifying relief will come in a few minutes.

Druggists everywhere will sell a bottle of HYOMEI for 50 cents. Ask for extra bottle HYOMEI Inhalant.

Don't be stubborn. Don't be prejudiced. There is not a particle of morphine in HYOMEI. It is not dangerous or habit forming drug in HYOMEI.

Give it a trial at W. H. Kirtledge's risk, he guarantees it. It is made of eucalyptus and other grand antiseptics. It will chase away the misery of catarrh or any affliction of the nose and throat in a few minutes.

You can get a trial sample free by writing Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

NORTH HAVEN

Ransom Bean died quite suddenly on Friday, April 7, at the age of 90 years. He formerly lived in the town of Sullivan and moved here about 30 years ago. He was an honest and upright citizen, respected by all. The funeral was held at the church Sunday at 2 o'clock. Mr. Smith of Vinalhaven officiating. Burial in the Fuller cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Calderwood, Mr. and Mrs. Ring of Bath, and Mrs. George Crocker and son Almond of Rockland, were in town over Sunday to attend the funeral of Ransom Bean.

Clarence Beverage of Rockland spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Elmina Beverage. Thayer and family, who have been stopping in Rockland through the winter, have returned home.

Mrs. Walter Parsons is suffering with a severe attack of rheumatism. The fishermen report bottom fish very scarce.

Vinal Dyer of Camden is visiting relatives in town.

Fishhawk and robins made their appearance some time ago, but in smaller numbers than usual.

Harry Rogers has over 300 young chickens.

C. E. Mills is buying large quantities of claims.

C. F. Brown, Benj. Brown and H. T. Crockett have lately purchased horses of Rockland parties.

Mrs. Abigail Webster, who has been visiting her daughter at Buxton, has returned home.

J. T. Leadbetter was in Camden over Sunday.

Parker Ladd has purchased a sloop boat 35 feet long which he will use in the fishing business.

There was a heavy fall of snow in the locality last Sunday. It seemed almost like a winter storm.

F. H. Smith, who has been confined to the house with a severe cold, is out again.

Seven Minute Sermon

On the Golden Text

By Our Own Preacher

(Copyright 1910 by E. S. Davidson.)

April 16th, 1911.

Blessed are they that keep his testimonies, and that seek him with the whole heart.—Ps. cxix.

I. All God's laws are in the interest of men. There are a great many persons, like the unfaithful servant in the story of the talents, who think, or call God "an hard man, reaping where thou hast not sown, and gathering where thou hast not strawed," and make that an excuse, as he did, for wrong doing. As a matter of fact every one of the laws of God is not only just, but is also kind, and wholly in the interest of men.

There is not a commandment whose chief purpose is to please the Law Giver, although much of our teaching and thinking assumes that this is so. To many, God is an austere being who demands our worship, as some earthly potentates demand the servile honor and obeisance of their subjects. Such a view is a caricature of the heavenly Father, for all the laws of nature, as of revelation, are wholly for our good. A little thought devoted to the commandments, which demand our love and worship of God, will show that they are in the highest degree beneficial to the worshipper. Our devotion to and love of God are not necessary for His happiness, but they are essential to ours and to our highest development.

When we contemplate the Jehovah of the Old Testament and the eternal Father of the New, and from His gracious and infinite qualities, fire our hearts with love and adoration, we take on God's likeness, for all men, everywhere, become like Him, when they worship Him. The commandments having reference to the care and restraint of our bodies, as well as those that are for the culture of our souls, are alone for our good. If we break the least of them it hurts us, while if we keep them it helps us. God is not an arbitrary ruler bidding us do things just to please Him, and when we offend Him dignity venting His displeasure by calling down upon us some grievous curse. Every law of God, without exception, is for our sakes just as if there were no God, and each law is provided with the power to automatically, and infallibly, reward or punish according to our deserts.

II. To keep God's laws results in blessedness. "Blessed are they that keep his testimonies," is the affirmation of the text. To start an investigation at the subjective laws of God, or those which are given us for our inner observance, will result in showing how blessed are they that keep His testimonies. Jesus is the best interpreter or exponent of God's laws pertaining to thought. He said that a look into the heart, while he cherishes love it makes him happy, and burnishes even the brightness of his spirit. To allow the flesh to control our thoughts, even without any overt act, is to develop the animal and dwarf the spiritual, while to dwell upon plans to help our fellows, to think of God, of love, and righteousness, of immortality and eternal life, is to enlarge in our souls feelings of rapture, the value of which is not fully described by the word "blessed." A large part of the sermon on the mount is devoted to the blessedness of those who keep God's testimonies, and the wretchedness and woes of those who break them and all these are but the echoes of the hearts of men in all the ages.

III. All acceptable service of God must be with the whole heart. The service of God may be compared to a chain which is only a chain when every link is unbroken; or the solution of a mathematical problem to which there can be only one correct answer. A man who seeks God with less than the whole heart may as well not seek, for he will never find Him; and when a man does come into harmony with the Lord, that harmony remains unbroken only so long as he serves Him with the whole heart. There are no half-hearted reconciled children of God, harsh as that statement may sound to those who are backsliders. Those who are fully blessed who are all in love, body, soul and spirit, with the heavenly Father. But the real lovers of God are blessed indeed. "Great peace have they which love thy law and nothing shall offend them." "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on thee, because he trusteth in thee." "His soul shall dwell at ease and his seed shall inherit the earth." And the work of righteousness shall be peace and the effect of righteousness quietness and assurance forever." There is no language that can fully describe the blessedness of the real children of God, for "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him."

Burn the Best

The last instance of boiling to death took place in Persia in 1890. The offender was guilty of stealing state revenues and was put into a large cauldron of cold water, which was slowly heated to the boiling point. His bones were distributed as a warning among the provincial tax collectors.

"I suppose she's quiet when she's dumpy?"
"Quiet! She talks twice as much!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Silence Is Safety.
After forty years of married life I've made up my mind it don't matter how often a man or his wife disagrees as long as he don't let her know it.—Harper's Bazar.

The Demon of The Air is the germ of Grippe, that, breathed in, brings suffering to thousands. Its after effects are weakness, nervousness, lack of appetite, energy and ambition, with disordered liver and kidneys. The greatest need then is Electric Bitters, the splendid tonic, blood purifier and regulator of Stomach, Liver and Kidneys. Thousands have proved that they wonderfully strengthen the nerves, build up the system and restore health and good spirits after an attack of Grip. If suffering, try them. Only 50 cents. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed by W. H. Kirtledge, Rockland, G. L. Robinson Drug Co., Thomaston, R. W. Wiley, Vinalhaven.

When a medicine must be given to young children it should be pleasant to take. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is made from loaf sugar, and the roots used in its preparation give it a flavor similar to maple syrup, making it pleasant to take. It has no superior for colds, croup and whooping cough. For sale by Norcross Drug Stores and W. H. Kirtledge, Druggists.

Constipation brings many ailments in its train and is the primary cause of much sickness. Keep your bowels regular, madam, and you will escape many of the ailments to which women are subject. Constipation is a very simple thing, but like many simple things, it may lead to serious consequences. Nature often needs a little assistance, and when Chamberlain's Tablets are given at the first indication much distress and suffering may be avoided. Sold by Norcross Drug Stores and W. H. Kittredge, Druggists.

Walter Williams

The funeral of the late Walter Williams, son of Thomas and Jeannette (McConchie) Williams of Clark Island, was held Monday afternoon at the church. Rev. Mr. Stone of the Baptist church conducted the services, and spoke feelingly of the many good qualities of the deceased, and words of consolation to the relatives and friends. Deceased had been ill for only a short time. His illness was borne heroically and uncomplainingly. He was a young man of pleasing disposition, excellent character, and had many friends who respected him. The beautiful flowers from the family and friends attested the esteem in which he was held. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Jeannette Richards of Clark Island and the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. J. T. Williams, George Williams, and James Williams of Clark Island, Thomas A. and Malcolm Williams of Stonington, Mary A. Hopkins and Margaret Calderwood of Vinalhaven and two brothers in New York. BEGIN A NEW YEAR

Elks Partake of Fine Turkey Supper And Then Install New Officers.

Rockland Lodge of Elks celebrated the close of a very prosperous year Monday night with a turkey supper which reflected much credit upon Caterer McLaughlin. Covers were laid for 115, the largest number which has ever attended a function of that kind in the new home.

Officers for the ensuing year were installed at the close of the banquet. This duty was happily performed by Past Exalted Ruler W. W. Case, with Past Exalted Ruler F. J. Simonton as grand esquire. Edward B. MacAllister who has served the lodge as exalted ruler the past year, was presented with the handsome electric dome, which was recently on exhibition in Daniels' window. Lecturing Knight G. B. Butler made the presentation speech in which he conveyed the brother Elks' appreciation of Mr. MacAllister's efficient services. "Mac" responded in feeling terms.

The Lodge will be governed the coming year by the following officers and committees:

Exalted Ruler, E. S. Levensaler.

Esteemed Leading Knight, G. B. Butler.

Esteemed Loyal Knight, H. D. Ames.

Esteemed Lecturing Knight, A. J. Tolman.

Amatite Roofing
A Roof That Needs No Painting

Amatite has a real mineral surface which needs no painting.

The above illustration shows the barn of S. P. Strickland, Bangor, Me., which was roofed with Amatite three years ago. The owner's opinion of it is expressed in the following letter which we recently received:

"Gentlemen:—The Amatite Roofing purchased three years ago and placed on my barn, has given most satisfactory service. The Roofing is unusually attractive in appearance, and in my judgment is the most durable and satisfactory made. The fact that it requires no painting appeals to me very strongly, and this feature makes it by far the cheapest really roofing on the market. Yours very truly, (Signed) S. P. STRICKLAND."

Every practical man will see at once that painting roofs is an expensive nuisance. If the roofs fail, the manufacturer always claims that they are not painted often enough, or that you did not use the right kind of paint or something of that sort. After Amatite is laid there is nothing more to do to it.

A sample of Amatite showing the mineral surface will be sent free on application. Address our nearest office.

Everjet Elastic Paint

Do you realize the economy of using black paint when possible? Everjet costs half as much as other first-class paints. Tough, durable, heat-proof and water-proof. For wood or metal.

Creonoid Lice Destroyer and Cow Spray

Vermine in the cow barn and hen house costs you money. Prevent insect worry by spraying regularly with Creonoid, a clean, powerful disinfectant. It repels flies, mosquitoes and hen lice. It kills germs and prevents the spread of contagion.

KNOX COUNTY HORSEMEN

Memories of "St. Patrick" Recalled by Turner's Sketch of Capt. Woodman.

The future of the trotter and pacer down in this section of Maine presents rather an optimistic view. Present indications point to the hour, long deferred, when Knox county may assume a commanding place in the breeding of the light-harness horse. Here in this land of lime and lime-casks there has been comparatively little breeding, consequently our progress has been somewhat slow along this line of industry; and especially is this true when considered in the light of what some of our sister counties have accomplished in the production of speed. This condition is traced partly to a lack of general interest and partly to a lack of opportunity. Our mind harks back to the time when our breeding stock was conspicuous almost wholly by its absence; and this condition, strange to say, prevailed but scarcely one quarter of a century ago.

Notwithstanding this, Knox county has sheltered, and even produced, some horses which are a credit to their kind; and still holds, some men of sterling horsemanship, men who have contributed to the success of the great game. But it is of our veterans, the pioneers and their horses that the writer in these articles purposes to speak. Among the most prominent of these were the late Gilman B. Ingraham of Rockport, Fred H. Berry of Rockland, also deceased, and our still active Holly M. Bean of Camden. In the morning of the Knox county turf, this trio of able horsemen were the bright shining lights of the game, and all the way down through the past decades their torches have blazed the way for others to follow. Two other important figures of this same day were Alvin McLain of Rockland, deceased, and Capt. M. W. Woodman of Thomaston. Back of these were a very few others whose operations were confined mostly to the pristine day of the turf, the two most important being Clum Bisbee, the driver of "Uncle Ben," and our now somewhat aged reindeer of Red Jacket fame, Charles E. Burkett of East Union.

Considering that our veterans have now doubtless reached nearly three score years and ten, it may seem somewhat remarkable that their turf activities are largely confined to the past twenty years, and within the personal recollections of the writer; but with the exception of Mr. Burkett this is true. While our statements may be found approximately correct, yet it is quite possible in writing from memory, and such information as our friends have kindly furnished that some allusions may be slightly in error. If so, we trust our critics will pardon us. A narrative of general interest, rather than a register of minute details of breeding, records, doings and dates is the writer's purpose in these articles.

For our first instalment, we will introduce our anti-hopple friend of St. Patrick fame.

Down in Thomaston our horseman lives and upon the equine pedestal of fame which the writer has chosen to erect to the memory of our oldest and worthiest horseman, the genial Captain shall have a seat, for only a few have contributed more to the horse history of Knox county than has M. W. Woodman.

When Mr. Woodman first became identified with the business we have not learned, but for at least the last twenty-five years he has been closely associated with the light-harness horse; and, best of all, the Captain is still in the ring and doing his share to perpetuate the breeding interests of Knox county. Only a few years since he purchased the two fine stallions Lord Thayer and Lord Lawson, the first of which he still retains to play an important part, we hope, in our productions of the future.

Captain Woodman has bred and owned some good horses in the past, and has also proven himself a trainer of no mean pretence. His greatest achievement in this line was with the sorrel gelding, St. Patrick. Well do we remember the early training and racing of this horse and how the wise ones used to wink at the Captain's endeavors to make a decent performer out of this erratic son of Joe Howe. But our patient trainer worked along for some years in his good-natured way, with varying but rather moderate success, until, one October night when the curtain had rung down upon the historic battlefield of Topsham, word flashed back that St. Patrick had won a notable victory and gained a mark of 2.23 1/4. The prestige Mr. Woodman's trotter gained by this performance entitled him to consideration ever after in any race in which he was a contestant.

It was, however, upon his native heath of Rockland one mid-summer day, that the namesake of Ireland's cherished apostle was destined to make a noted showing. It was at one of Fred Berry's annual meetings in 1896, when men and women came from far and near to swell the crowd which had gathered to witness a contest between the most notable collection of fillers that had yet appeared upon Mr. Berry's course. From Shawmut came Lowe and his wonderful mare Hallie; from Sunnyside Nelson came on with grand old Silverstreet; from up the coast came Davis, with his fact pacer Paul T., and from the sunny hills of Camden came Mr. Bean's game Veni Vici. From various other points came fast and noted horses, and in their midst was the local pride St. Patrick,

April 17-18-19—Special Return Engagement.

"What Wright Left," the cleverest of musical comedies, with that unctuous comedian, Toby Lyons, will be the special Easter attraction for three days commencing Monday night, April 17. He is surrounded by an unusual clever cast and an exceptional pretty chorus of show girls. The entire performance is beautifully staged and costumed, and presented with a dash that makes one feel like enjoying the performance every night.

The humorous situations embellished with a host of whistling song numbers and sensational dancing chorus girls make up one of the best singing and dancing organizations of the season. Toby Lyons is a great favorite here, and no doubt his return engagement will be a record breaker. Seats are now on sale and arrangements are completed to play the entire engagement at popular prices. Special matinees will be given Tuesday and Wednesday.

and Woodman holding the ribbons with the ease of a Doble. To see the picketed gelding come through that bunch with fearless stride and finish, twice on Hallie's wheel was a pleasing spectacle. In the third heat St. Patrick, for the first time, made a break, and the man who bred the Northern King brought Silverstreet up and secured the place; but Woodman's trotter had won second money and more than that had driven Hallie out in 2.22, a new record for the Rockland track. The sporting fraternity of the Limerock City, long Capt. Woodman's home, that night had reason to be proud of its native son and congratulations showered upon him well repaid for the long and trying hours spent in the education of a crazy horse which had eventually pulled down second money in the fastest and strongest field that had yet turned for the word upon the Rockland ring.

In after days St. Patrick also went some good races, one in particular, that same fall at Bangor where he won in good time and over a strong field including such horses as Haroldson, Combine, Orono Boy, Tom Drew, Dust-mont and others.

Long life to Capt. Woodman and may he yet see some descendant of his son of Baron Wilkes trot a mile in record breaking time.—H. L. Turner in Turf, Farm and Home.

CRIEHAVEN

Mrs. Fred Rhodes, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Harriet Crie, and her daughter Miss Edith from Brookline, Mass., arrived by steamer Friday, April 7.

Burnham Robinson came by steamer Buina last trip. He will work for Fred Rhodes.

Miss Mary B. Grant was among the new arrivals Friday. She is to teach the spring term of school in this place. A new industry has been established here in the form of a fish-buying plant. Mr. Baxter of Port Clyde is the buyer, and it is hoped that through the hearty cooperation of the catchers with the buyers the business may prove a valuable asset in the little community.

A lively snow storm Sunday let its white mantle on the ground, and today gives the appearance of winter.

Peter Mitchell has just completed another of his fast motor boats, and has still future contracts.

Andrew Anderson is recovering from his long illness, and has made some trips in his fishing boat.

Humors of all kinds are prolific of worse troubles. They may be entirely expelled by a thorough course of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

WEST BROOKLYN

Miss Flossie Carter, who has been visiting relatives at North Sedgwick, came home Friday.

Boat Fogg came home from Deer Isle Saturday where he has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Myra Saunders. Isaac Bridges has purchased a horse of Bluehill parties.

Miss Irene Billings, who is teaching here, spent the week-end at her home in Bluehill.

Jessie Eaton of Oceanville spent a few days last week with her mother, Mrs. Martha Eaton.

Harold Seavey left Friday for Portland where he will enter the hospital for treatment, he was accompanied by David Bridges.

Moulton Cooper spent Monday of last week in Rockland.

Miss Gaynell Bridges, who has been spending her vacation at home, returned to Hebron last Monday.

Mrs. Rose Richards, who has been in town a few days on business, returned to her home in Camden Friday.

Enoch Lurvey and wife and little daughter, Thelma of Brookline spent the week-end with Parker Bridges and wife.

Delicately Formed

and gently reared, women will find in all the seasons of their lives, as maidens, wives and mothers, that the one simple, wholesome laxative remedy, which acts gently and pleasantly and naturally and which may be taken at any time, when the system needs a laxative, with perfect safety and really beneficial effects, is Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

It has that true delicacy of flavor which is so refreshing to the taste, that warming and grateful toning to the stomach which responds so favorably to its action and the laxative effect which is so beneficial to the system when, occasionally, its gentle cleansing is required.

The genuine, always bearing the name of the California Fig Syrup Co., may be purchased from all leading druggists in original packages of one size only, price fifty cents per bottle.

Lenox Soap is good value.

It will do anything that more expensive soaps will do; and, at the same time, it costs so little that you can use it freely without feeling that you are wasteful or extravagant.

Buy a cake. Compare it with the soap you are now using—with any soap you have ever used—and you will find, as tens of thousands of housekeepers have found, that Lenox Soap is better value than any other soap.

HOME DECORATIONS

The decoration of a room may be based upon some special feature of the room—a piece of furniture, a bit of choice china, the coloring of the rug or planned to harmonize with the adjacent rooms.

WALLS—Rich, flat effects are secured by use of Flat-tone finishes. These materials are durable, sanitary and most practical in the home. Used over the old paper, you get the color desired and a durable surface that can be washed with soap and water like the paint on the wood work.

A FLAT-TONE treatment of the old curtains makes them look like new and gives them a color to harmonize with the room.

FLOORS—By using filler stains, wax or varnishes, any shade or finish may be given. For old sort-wood floors, our floor paint or varnish stain may be used to give a lasting surface.

We have finished over 100 rooms the past few months with FLAT-TONE. The first cost is less and being durable, it's the most economical finish all around.
